30th Alaska State Legislature ~ 1st Session

20th Edition – 9/22/17

~ Governor calls 4TH Special Session of 30th Legislature~

Bill Wrap-Up: First Session of 30th Legislature

Three special sessions produced the passage of the operating budget, the oil & gas production tax/payments/credits bill and the capital budget.

The Governor's fourth special session proclamation is expected to be issued sometime before September 22nd for a session to begin October 23rd. Between now and then the Governor will be working with his team and lawmakers to narrow the focus on different revenue options available in hopes of ensuring a production session.

The bills being transmitted from the legislature to the Governor's office have slowed and so it's time for the final Capitol Currents of this session. Below you'll find a list of measures which will become law this year; a committees' list so you can see where debate will pick up on bills still in the hopper; a short recap of the FY 18 budget; and a quick reference guide for different types of legislation.

Budget Recap

The one-day third special session ended with passage of a capital budget on July 27th and Governor Walker signed the budget bill into law on July 31st. The bill contained appropriations for FY 2018 totaling $1.4 billion, including $122 million in unrestricted general funds and $28 million in designated general funds. It leverages nearly $1.2 billion in federal dollars for transportation, village water infrastructure, energy, and housing projects. SB 23 is the smallest capital budget enacted since the year 2000.

The total FY 18 operating budget ended up at just over $9.6 billion. The budget draws approximately $2.4 billion from the Constitutional Budget Reserve. The CBR has been reduced from $13 billion in 2014 to about $2.1 billion after the FY 18 draw. The legislature did not use funds from the Permanent Fund Earnings Reserve Account.

Quick Reference on Legislative Measures

Bills: A proposed law that has been introduced in either body of the Legislature- passage requires a majority vote of the full membership of each body—after transmitted to the Governor, it can be signed into law, vetoed (it will not become law), or after a specified number of days pass without veto it can become law without the Governor's signature
